PREZ SEZ:

These prez sez things are getting harder to write the deeper into winter we go. There still seems to be a reasonable amount of aviation being committed. Ian and I have had a couple of sneaky week days out, Andrew is over 100hrs and Peter has been seen at Mercer lately.

The hanger has been rearranged as the jump planes are all being hangered overnight. There is a technique to getting the inbehind ones out, and as Andrew stacked them as they now are, he will be giving an oral demonstration at the club meeting on their extrication. This is especially important for Andrew due to him being the proud owner of a Titan Tornado, which I'm sure he would like hangered at Mercer. Needless to say his trusty Bantam is up for grabs.

This is probably the maximum practical number of aircraft the hanger can take, we now wait for Jim to take possession of the adjacent land so we can start on the new Hanger. This may not be too far away, as of last week Jim was negotiating with a surveyor.

Last Saturday I flew to Christchurch to run a seminar on microlight maintenance after which we flew to Timaru for the night. Sunday we flew to Mossburn for another seminar and then to Dunedin where I boarded an ATR for Christchurch and then a 737 home again, all done by 2030 Sunday. The seminars were well received and every attendant received a cd containing a full IA and aircraft maintenance resource. I still have 16 CD's left which I will bring them along to the club for anyone who wants one, first in first served.

We covered some of the content two meetings ago but it wouldn't hurt to go over some other topics on Wednesday night. See you all then.

Anton Lawrence

REGULAR EVENTS

Thought for the day:

Learn from the mistakes of others. You won't live long enough to make all of them yourself.

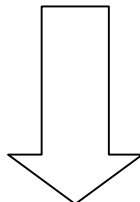

PROTECTING OUR WOMEN

With the high rate of attacks on women in secluded Car Parks, especially during evening hours, Highland Council has established a "Women Only" car park near Farraline Park multi-storey in Inverness.

Even the car park attendants and security staff are exclusively female, so that a comfortable and very safe environment is created for the ladies

No men are allowed anywhere near the car park but a local male photographer managed to snap the shot below for the local paper... at great personal risk!
